

Diplomatico Blanco Rum

Tasting Notes

Diplomatico Blanco

Nose: Rich and unexpectedly intense for a white rum. Immediate notes of brown sugar and hot-buttered toast. Creamy. A strong whiff of fresh-ground coffee. Cocoa powder and cappuccino. Golden syrup and raisin cake.

Palate: Medium-full - again, much bigger and more expressive than one expects from a white rum. Amazing soft, creamy texture. Deliciously chocolatey, with the mocha notes from the nose weaving through a luscious, highly sophisticated palate. Perfectly rounded and balanced.

Finish: Long and sweet, but retains enough zip and complexity to easily avoid becoming sickly. A trace of pepper towards the end. Marvellous.

Comment: The ageing and charcoal filtration has created what must be the smoothest, silkiest white rum ever. A totally unexpected depth of flavour.
